MADAME SONTAG'S NEW SERIES OF CLASSICAL, BRILLIANT, SACRED and CHORAL CONCERTS.

The public are respectfully informed that the Second and Last Series of Madame SONTAG'S New York Concerts will commence between the 23d and 25th November, at METROTOLITAN HALL.

The most extensive preparations and tehearsals have been proceeding during the last six weeks, to give to these Concerts that character of grandeur and completeness for which the Thennial Musical Festivals of England and Germany are so justly famed; and it is confidently anticipated, that great as as has been the satisfaction given by Madame SONTAG'S first series of Concerts, the second, from the excellency of the new segments made, the selection of the masterpieces to be produced, and the liberality of all the arrangements, will form an era in the musical annals of America. The new series will be divided into

In which all the solos, and even secondary parts, will be perforted by the EMINENT ARTISYS of Madame SONTAG'S Company.

The Orchestral, Choral, and Choros departments will consist of SIX HUNDRED PERFORMERS, and will be led by CARL ECKERT, under whose direction the principal German Festivals have been conducted.

To silord the required accumendation, the orchestral portion of the Hall will be entirely remodelfful, on the plan of Exeter Hall, Lendon, forming a sparious asphithester occupying one-thard of Metropolitan Hall, and greatly facilitating the accounte effect of the music.

The prices of admission will be those of Madame Sontag's first series.

Full restrictions in future advertisments.

MADAME SONTAG'S NEW SERIES of ADAME SONTAGE NEW SERIES of DAY EVENING, 20th inst, at METROPOLITAN HALL. These Concerts will be produced on a corresponding scale of grandeur and completeness of the inmed Musical Festivals of Germany and England. The Orchestral, Charal and Chorus departments will consist of Six Hundred Performers, under the direction of CARL ECKERT. Full particulare infuture announcements.

Chants of the Sainte-Chapelle, 13th century: Extracts from HIGGALD on Harmony of the lith century: Extracts from HIGGALD on Harmony of the lith century, the excitest writer known on the subject; the most ancient piece of music in parts, haaded down in England: Selections from the Music Book used by Queen ELIZABETH: PALESTRIN'S Original Mass: GLOCK'S Orighest and Enridgee: Extracts from the Works of the Founders and Subsequent Masters of the Chief Schools of Europe.

Orghens and Ewridge: Extracts from the Works of the Founders and Subsequent Masters of the Chief Schools of Europe.

The Illustrations having shown the progress of the Art thus far, the number of Solos, Duetta, Trios, Quartettes, Choruses, Overtures, and other vocal and instrumental pieces from the works of the greatest Modern Statistics, and German Composers, which will be given, are entirely too numerous for particular mention in a general advertisement. Among them, however, will be extracts from LE SEUR's opera Lot Careria, Sponting's Festule, Felicien Divisis Christopher Columbus, and Mayrenerers from Le Seur's opera Lot Careria, Sponting's Festule, Felicien Divisis Christopher Columbus, and Mayrenerers Prophete. And it may be remarked that some of the Lectures will embrace of Classical and Dramatic Music with Explanatory and Historical Comments and that for the proper attainment of this object, the Musical Husatrations will be given by over TWO HUNDRED PERFORMERS.

Including a Cores of Penicipal, Operatic and Concert Singers of the first grade, an Oberlesstra of Echoty and a Core of Penicipal, Operatic and Concert Singers of these Lectures being not only different from, but wider in scope and more elaborate in detail than any which have ever been presented to the public of either Europe or America.

A Prospectus, for gratuitous distribution, may be had at all the Music Store, setting forth the plan of each Lecture, which cannot be embraced within the limits of an advertiscent.
